

DIVERSIFY BEYOND THE STOCK MARKET

YOUR SELF-DIRECTED IRA CAN INVEST IN...

PRECIOUS METALS

Gold and other precious Metals have enjoyed a 5000-year run as a reliable, trusted and bedrock portfolio holding.

Precious metals are inversely correlated to traditional asset classes, such as the stock market and bonds, and even other alternative assets including real estate. Precious metals are considered a relatively stable asset during turbulent economic times because there will always be inherent value. Throughout human history they have been coveted stores of wealth, and that is unlikely to change in the near future. Precious metals also cannot be reprinted by governments until they no longer hold value. That is why precious metals are often used to store value or as a hedge against inflation when investors are uncertain about the future of the economy or market, or they become averse to risk.
